New York for Smith?
Georgia for Hoover?
$25,000,000 for Rosenwald.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

NEW YORK STATE'S labor union convention indorses Governor Smith for president, many well known Republicans in union labor ranks leaving their party. This follows a refusal of the national union labor body to take sides in the campaign.

GOVERNOR SMITH'S friends are forcing the fight in New York state, convinced that if Republicans lose in New York they will lose in the nation.

FROM Georgia, on the other hand, comes M. O. Dunning, said to know politics better than Webster knew spelling. At Montauk, L. I., Mr. Dunning told Carl Fisher, king of Miami;
Mr. Coffin, boss of Hudson and Essex, and this writer, that Herbert Hoover would surely carry Georgia.

HE complained that Republican leaders do not see their opportunities in the south, "where," said he, "several states are offered to them on a silver platter."

Results of this campaign will surprise those most deeply interested. Ask Colonel Knight, of Tampa.

IT PAYS to stick to your convictions, friends and business.
In 1921 things looked dark for Sears Roebuck. Shrinkage in after the war inventory values threatened to stop preferred dividends. That would have meant nothing to Rosenwald; he could afford to wait.

BUT friends had bought the stock on his advice, so Mr. Rosenwald put $150,000,000 cash into the company and made it a present of 50,000 shares of its own stock, only reserving the right to buy the stock back at $100 a share.

ALL went well, the company bought and retired all of its preferred stock out of profit. Rosenwald bought back his 50,000 shares at $50,000,000 and made $25,000,000 cash profit.

MR. ROSENWALD, you will notice, never sells anything short, in this country. He knows that prosperity is only beginning.

Mr. Wall Street Bear, write that on your cuff.

SOME goose says that Mr. Firestone, planting rubber trees in Liberia

SCORE KILLED OVER HOLIDAY

Automobile Crashes Lead in Toll in Ohio.

Tragic deaths throughout Ohio over the weekend and Labor day numbered more than a score, a state-wide check today indicated. The majority of the violent deaths were brought about by automobile crashes. The first thing of fall and low temperatures kept drowning from taking a toll, this being the first week-end period since hot weather arrived that no drownings have been recorded.

Among those who met death in the 72-hour period were:

Zanesville: Body of unidentified man, 10, recovered from canal here, apparently a victim of drowning.

Dayton: Hugh Foster, 14, of Osborn, was killed when his bicycle collided with an automobile.

Cincinnati: Miss Mary F. Seifert, 18, was killed when she backed into an elevator shaft at Good Samaritan hospital here and fell five stories.

Columbus: William O. Yeager, 35, died enroute to hospital here from injuries received when automobile crashed into pole near Washington C. H.

Isaac Atkinson, 80, negro, died in hospital from injuries received when run down by automobile.

Wooster: Mrs. Grace Brooks, 79, Columbus, killed in automobile accident near here.

Toledo: Josephine Green, 35, died in crash when her automobile plunged from road near here.

Cleveland: Ruth Szabo, six months, killed when the truck in which she was riding with her mother and father was sidwiped by an automobile.

COACH PLUNGES OVER HILLSIDE ALONG ROAD AT WILLIAMSPORT

Dorothy Burlingame, 14, is Seriously Injured.

OTHER CRASHES Deputy Sheriff Finds Abandoned Car in Glenmoor.

Seven persons were injured,
one seriously, when a Hudson coach, owned by Cecil Stoddard, Dewey avenue, went over an embankment and overturned three times on the new East Liverpool-Youngstown road near Williamsport at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Steering Gear Locked.

Dorothy, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burlingame, 1907 Ohio avenue, sustained two fractured ribs and a broken jaw, while Miss Catherine Carpenter, 17, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Ernest Carpenter, Michigan avenue, suffered a deep cut on her head. The others, who were bruised, were Miss Ruby Burlingame, 16, Jaun-ta Burlingame, 7, and Lester Burlingame, also children of Mr. and Mrs.
William Burlingame, Dorothea Carpenter, 16, and Cecil Stoddard, driver of the car.

They were returning to their homes in East Liverpool after attending a reunion of the Burlingame family held at the Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burlingame home, near Negley, when the accident occurred. Stoddard said that he was driving at a moderate rate of speed when the steering gear on his car locked, causing the automobile to swerve from the road.

Treated at Hospital.

The five young people were in a car when rescuers reached them. The injured were taken into the automobile of Leonard Clutter and brought to the City hospital where Drs. G. W.
McDade and W. H. Bailey attended them. With the exception of Dorothy Burlingame, they were discharged later.

A Ford touring car, carrying a licence issued to Peter Borakitch, Putnam street, was towed to the Chamberlain garage, Glenmoor, Sunday night, upon orders of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindschater, after a report had been made to the sheriff's office that the car had been abandoned on the improved road between Cannons Mills and the Y. & O. sub-station, Saturday night. The automobile was badly damaged when it struck a guard railing along the road. Authorities were endeavoring to locate the owner today.

POLICEMAN SLAIN IN GUN FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 4. — Policeman
Leonard Jagla of the detective bureau was shot and instantly killed here today when the squad to which he was attached interrupted three bandits in the act of robbing a confectionery store.

Jagla and other detectives ran into the store and began firing upon the bandits who darted for rear door.
Jagla and his men pursued them. One of the robbers turned and fired three shots, the last bullet piercing the detectives' heart.

One of the men was captured as he tried to scale a fence. His companions, who are known to police, escaped. Dragnets for their captures were immediately spread over the entire district.

FLIER HARKER DEFIES FATE IN JUMP FROM AIR

Youth Falls 1,000 Feet
Before Opening
Parachute.

2,000-FOOT DROP Uses Chute Which Saved Life of Lindbergh.

Rex Harker, East Liverpool aviator, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harker, Vine street, and assistant operations officer at the Embury Riddle company's airport, near Cincinnati, dropped approximately 1,000 feet before pulling the string in an exhibition parachute jump at Cincinnati yesterday afternoon.

Harker had ascended 2,000 feet in an airplane when he made his sensational jump, thrilling 10,000 spectators on the ground below. After dropping about half way to the ground, his parachute opened and he made a safe landing in the aviation field.

Harker, who is now a licensed commercial pilot, used an Irwin chute, the same type which is said to have saved the life of Colonel Charles Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flier on four different occasions. Yesterday's exhibition was his second parachute jump, his first one having been made about three weeks ago when he dropped 300 feet before he pulled the rip cord. He had a narrow escape from alighting in the Miami river on his first exhibition.

Hoover Turns His Attention to Initiation Of Republican Campaign in New England

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Despite reports of Democratic defections in the south, Herbert Hoover today turned his attention to the initiation of the Republican campaign in New England.

Hoover expected to confer with Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, just returned from opening the campaign in Maine. Work was to report to the Republican nominee on conditions all through New England, a territory that Hoover looks upon as a part of the big battleground for November's election.

Superintendent C. S. McVay announ-

400 MEN FIGHT FOREST FIRE

California Blaze Causes
$1,000,000 Damage.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 4.—The most disastrous forest fire in San Diego county was still out of control today, as the flames advanced toward the heavily-timbered districts of Corte Madera and Morena Dam.

It is estimated that damage to timber alone would run more than a million dollars. In addition, the fire has destroyed more than twenty cabins in Pine Valley and water sheds have been damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars.

After a valiant battle, fore fighters stopped the blaze headed toward the ranch of Jackie Coogan, juvenile film actor, and the small town of Buckman Springs.

The Resort hotel at Pine Valley also was saved after flames had reached within 100 feet of the structure.

More than 400 men are working on their fire lines.

RAMBOUILLET, France,
Sept. 4.—The single-motored Bernard monoplane, "Yellow flying to the Azores on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic attempt to New York, passed over this city at 7:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m.

New York daylight time) today.

Making Good Speed.
The plane was making good speed at a height of 2,100 feet.

Rambouillet is about 50 miles southeast of Paris.

PARIS, Sept. 4. — Bound for the Azores on the first leg of a trans-was unable to reach New York.

Both Assolant and Lefevre are

HASSEL, CRAMER ABANDON THEIR HOP TO SWEDEN

Rescued Fliers Will go to Holstenberg by Motorboat.

LAND ON ICE

Rockford Airman Now Safe in Greenland.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer, the Rockford-to-Sweden fliers who are now safe at Mount Evans after wandering about the wastes of Greenland for two weeks, following a forced landing, expected to go to Holstenberg, Greenland, by motorboat, according to a radio from the wireless station at Julienhaab, Greenland, picked up by the Exchange Telegraph company here.

The radio dispatches, the first to bring direct news of Hassel and Cramer here, stated that the fliers' plane landed safely on the ice fields of the Sukkertoppen arm about 100 miles south of Mount Evans on August 19.

According to the Julienhaab radio, storms have been raging for several days in the vicinity where the plane landed. It was feared that the plane may have been damaged as a result. The fact that Hassel and Cramer were going to Holstenberg was taken as an indication that the fliers were contemplating an early return to the United States and had given up hopes of completing their flight to Sweden.

HASSEL, CRAMER ABANDON THEIR HOP TO SWEDEN

Rescued Fliers Will go to Holstenberg by Motorboat.

LAND ON ICE

Rockford Airman Now Safe in Greenland.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer, the Rockford-to-Sweden fliers who are now safe at Mount Evans after wandering about the wastes of Greenland for two weeks, following a forced landing, expected to go to Holstenberg, Greenland, by motorboat, according to a radio from the wireless station at Julienhaab, Greenland, picked up by the Exchange Telegraph company here.

The radio dispatches, the first to bring direct news of Hassel and Cramer here, stated that the fliers' plane landed safely on the ice fields of the Sukkertoppen arm about 100 miles south of Mount Evans on August 19.

According to the Julienhaab radio, storms have been raging for several days in the vicinity where the plane landed. It was feared that the plane may have been damaged as a result. The fact that Hassel and Cramer were going to Holstenberg was taken as an indication that the fliers were contemplating an early return to the United States and had given up hopes of completing their flight to Sweden.

On a trip around the world on horseback, three well-known horsemen recently started from Warsaw, Poland.

Opening of Schools

Happy after a three months' vacation, East Liverpool district children trekked back to school today, prepared to begin nine months of study.

Although the peak mark is not expected on opening day, enrollment in the public and parochial schools probably will total 6,000, a record figure. Of this number more than 5,600 will be at desks in the public school buildings.

Everything is in readiness. Registration occupied the attention of pupils in the sophomore, junior and senior classes as well as those in elementary schools today. First year high school pupils registered last week. Tomorrow lessons will be assigned.

Punctuality in attendance and concentration on studies on the part of pupils are essential if they are to receive the benefits possible under a free school system. And this means parents should co-operate with superintendent, principal and teachers.

Play days have passed. It is time for work.

Hoover's Worthy Effort

It is a fortunate thing for the United States that the nation's political life and thought have developed to the high standard set by Mr. Hoover in his address accepting the Republican nomination. And if there is a man or woman who doubted the sound and sturdy Americanism of Mr. Hoover, those doubts assuredly have been settled by a perusal of this document. That speech breathed the very essence of sound Americanism and American ideals. Equal opportunity for every citizen, a high and increasingly higher standard of living for every American, national defense for the protection of American institutions—these are some of the ideals asserted in the address which go to make it an historic American document.

There have been "high brows" among the people who have sneered at the American economic advancement, claiming as they have that this country has come to measure success in terms of business and business profits only. To these Mr. Hoover has given answer by showing that the material national prosperity has brought advancement for everyone along other lines. One paragraph will suffice to illustrate this:

"Most of all I like to remember what this progress has meant to America's children. The portal of their opportunity has ever been widening. While the population of the nation has grown but eight per cent, we have increased by eleven per cent the number of children in our grade schools, by 66 per cent the number in our high schools, and by 75 per cent the number in our institutions of higher learning."

Here, indeed, is a real measure of success. On the child of today depends the future of the country tomorrow, and if the nation's material prosperity has enabled an increasingly greater number of children the benefits of broad education, to provide more and better homes—and Mr. Hoover shows that it has—then indeed has the nation's material progress and prosperity been worth while.

Mr. Hoover's speech was an effort worthy of the man, worthy of any American. It started the campaign on a plane higher than formerly was the case. May the campaign continue on this high plane until the ballots are counted November 6.

The Coast Guard a Menace

News reports of recent weeks have shown a growing tendency on the part of coast guardsmen on Lake Erie to promiscuously fire upon pleasure craft, endangering the lives and property of respectable men and women, who do not even have liquor aboard their craft. Complaints of federal crews shooting at yachts in an effort to curb rum-running have literally poured into Washington since last spring, when the Great Lakes' force was augmented by addition of a dozen new cutters.

Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of government enforcement of the prohibition law, has approved the action of the coast guard in opening fire upon lake shipping at the discretion of the coast guardsmen themselves. He says that in no cases have shots been fired until after both flag and whistle signals to heave-to have been ignored. Yachtmen disagree with this statement, declaring they are fired upon without warning of any kind.

Here is a place and opportunity where an investigation is due. If it is true the coast guardsmen are shooting at innocent citizens, then the practice should be instantly stopped. At least, investigation will disclose if it is true that guardsmen have found that privately-owned pleasure yachts are engaged in rum-running, as the guardsmen contend.

However, there have been instances where Ohioans have been shot at by guardsmen where the yachting party was made up of citizens of unimpeachable character. There certainly could have been no excuse for the reprehensible conduct of the guardsmen in such instances. Better look into the trouble before someone is killed and the very device is to pay as a result.

There's an old one to the effect that "riches have wings," but the disappointing phrase of the thing to most people is that the wings are always working in the wrong direction.

Lord Balfour says that "seeing has not only ceased to be believing, but is in open revolt against it." Certainly this British lord's statement can not possibly have any connection with the girls' short skirts.

Seven persons were killed and over a score injured, says a Paris cable, when lightning hit a power plant in the Grenoble district of France and spread flames and destruction through the nearby villages served by it. The bolt being carried over light and power wires. We'll say this for the French fuses. They manifestly possess great powers of resistance.

Jewels owned by an Atlanta woman and valued by her at $120,000, a twenty-carat diamond ring among them, have disappeared from her suite in an Atlantic City hotel. The average man can not be too glad that his wife does not insist upon lugging with her when traveling a jewelry stock like that!

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—There must be spacious pockets in the familiar red and white striped trousers, the starry waistcoat, and the blue long-tailed coat of Uncle Sam. In them he can rustle or jingle more than eight billion dollars. That is the amount of money held in the treasury, by the federal reserve banks and agents, and in circulation, the last-named totalling between four and five billion.

More than half the grand total is in gold coin and bullion, the weight of which would require a man as strong as the familiar impersonator of the United States to carry. His silver dollars are merely counted in the millions, nearly 550 of them, and the total of his subsidiary silver, that in denominations for tipping, sounds like a bargain sale, 299 million. For chewing gum, penny candy, and newspapers he has more than 100 million in minor coin.

Like other efficient business men of the day he has notes, but unlike all of them, his are kilt-edged with security that is inextinguishable. The largest item in the note class is the federal reserve notes which amount to more than two billion dollars. Next are the national bank notes aggregating nearly 700 million. United States notes amount to approximately 350 million, and the federal reserve bank notes total a mere trifle of slightly over four million.

Issued against the gold coin and bullion and standard silver dollars are the treasury notes of 1890 and the decorative gold and silver certificates. They amount to $1,300,000, a billion and a half, and nearly 475 million respectively.

This grand total of eight billion dollars is eight times what the smart old man with the white goatee boasted in 1879.

Considering the amount of coins, the number of kinds now issued regularly under the authorization of the law is few. There are only ten, four in the eagle family of gold coins, four for the dollars, and two for minor coins. Called officially "double eagle, eagle, half eagle, and quarter eagle," the gold coins are valued respectively as $20, $10, $5, and $2.50. Dollars, halves, quarters, and dimes, are the rapidly circulating silver coins, and nickels and pennies constitute the minor league.

There have been other denominations issued in the past, among them half cents, nickel, pennies, twenty cent, three cent, and two cent pieces, and gold dollars and three dollars, but they are passed now. By special act of congress commemorative and memorial coins have been struck off for distribution, usually at a premium, by the organizations concerned with the particular event. The grand-daddy of all the eagles was created when 50 gold pieces were struck off for the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915. Among the recent commemorative coins have been the Stone Mountain silver half dollars, and the Sesquicentennial silver halves and gold $2.50 pieces.

The mints do the coin money-making for the country, but they are not in the business of buying or selling gold coins or paper money nor will they establish values for them.

There is now no further authority for the purchase of silver for making dollars, for there are plenty of them. Like gold, they are wanted in quantity. Even in the west where it was once a matter of pride to carry the silver which originally came from there, this bulky medium of exchange is being supplanted by paper currency. In sections where wealthy pockets and purses were preferred to paper money the latter now desirably fresh is coming into its own, for after the establishment of the federal reserve banks clean paper money was made available in all parts of the country.

The paper money which is comprised of the five kinds of notes and the gold and silver certificates is made at the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington. The better known denominations of crackly currency are the $1, $2, $5, $10, and $20.

In addition to making money the mints made medals in honor of important people and occasions, and medals which are to honor persons who have done important things. Events of the Revolutionary and War of 1812; the steam, Pacific railroad, the Wright Brothers, secretaries of the treasury, directors of the mint, and each of the presidents have had medals struck off in their recognition. A medal has been made for Calvin Coolidge.

At the present time there are three coinage mints, the one established at Philadelphia since colonial times, one in San Francisco since 1854, and one in Denver since 1904. Except the products of the oldest mint, the coins bear mint marks, small letters near the bottom of the coin.

There was once a mint in Charlotte, N. C. the coinage of which up to the time it was discontinued in 1861 was lettered with a tiny "C."

Identified by "CC" the coinage of Carson City was discontinued in 1893. The "D" of Dahlonega, Ga. coinage which was stopped in 1861 has been adopted by the present Denver mint since 1906. Coinage ceased in New Orleans, where it was marked "O," in 1909. Coins from San Francisco are identified by an "S."

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

SOMEWHERE IN CALIFORNIA,

Sept. 4.—Leaving San Diego at sun-up we headed in the general direction of Los Angeles, and this evening we are somewhere or other that has a hotel called the Blue Front. The name fits the melancholy mood. Nor do I care for the group of shifty-eyed Mexicans loafing in the office in a big way.

A wrong road—and here we are. A city chap lost in the wide open spaces who would give—just a minute—two suit cases, $18.42 in cash, a Cartier wrist watch, a dusty pair of spats, three sticks of gum slightly used and a broken-down typewriter, to be whistling across Times Square to-night.

Opposite the Blue Front is a shack with a small yard enclosed with a tangle of barbed wire. In the yard is something that bleats like a goat but looks like a coyote. It will be a lovely night, listening to whatever it is and trying to sleep.

The proprietress is a work-woman drudge with a wisp of hair knotted on top of her head. Her husband is a one-eyed halfbreed. Drawing the finger across the throat describes him perfectly. Ricketts, the chauffeur, added to the general gloom with: "That guy ain't up to no love-making."

Our room is reached up a back stair leading from the kitchen, and has what started out to be a window but didn't get far—a sort of glorified knot-hole. Inquiring about rates, Old One Eye said "A dollar," and added ominously, "down."

There is nothing to do but stay, as we are out of gas and the nearest garage is four miles away. (Incidentally Old One Eye is lounging in the doorway watching me peck the typewriter). The dinner consisted of moldy beans, stale bread, canned peaches, anemic coffee served in tin cups and an expensive meal at 25 cents a plate.

A half block away is, I suppose, the main street. It consists of a little country store with a porch whose posts are emblazoned with tobacco, baking powder and chewing gum signs. A poultry store with footpaths of boxes and crates. A notary public's office and a little cottage. That is all.

Along the highway today were many old missions—some now crumbled away to mere adobe walls. Others include a chapel, several houses, a granary and a graveyard. Feeble old caretakers putter about to show visitors peeps of a vanishing past.

California has many up-to-the-minute towns, however, you never hear about. They are tucked away in bowls, surrounded by rugged hills and have a newness and cosmopolitan manner. The tourist is no novelty, for they stream through daily from all parts of the country.

One of the beautiful little spots near San Diego is Grossmont, an exclusive colony crowning an isolated peak. Here home owners include Mrs. Schuman-Heink, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond and Owen Wister.

Also there is Ramona—the name so recently glorified in song along Broadway. Here the smallness of the world was accentuated. Stopping at a rose-clad cottage to ask a direction, I noticed a name on a mail box. It was the same as that of a lady who conducted a boarding house on West 57th street in New York where I once lived and paid my board regularly. She opened the door, glanced at me coldly and shut it again. How sharper is ingratitude than something or other about a serpent's tooth!

Old One Eye just came clumping up the stairs again. "Play yards?" he inquired, opening the door without knocking. I told him I didn't. "We are starting a little game," he ventured. I suspect a variant of the old army game with a little dirty work at the crossroads on the side.

Far off somewhere is the eerie, forlorn tune from a mouth organ. All that is needed to complete a first-class blood-curdling is the mournful "Who-o-o" of an owl. Or a pistol shot in the dark. And if you ask me, there is something breathing funny on the roof.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

They have had a bad time in New England. There has been an epidemic of sore throat. Hundreds had it, and many died.

It is only human to become neglectful. Even though we learn how certain diseases are carried and what to do to prevent this evil, we get careless. In the absence of trouble for a long time, we lapse into forgetfulness of possible danger.

That is the case with smallpox, and other preventable diseases. It is true of fire hazards and various ailments due to industrial hazards.

One of the greatest boons to humanity was the discovery that pasteurizing milk is a very sure means of making it safe. Milk can be made safe without pasteurization provided rigid inspections are possible. But without care in the handling, this essential food, instead, may be converted into a deadly poison.

Among the diseases which have been traced to contaminated milk by find epidemic sore throat. In the account I read of the epidemic in Massachusetts, it said that samples of milk sent from Boston for examination were found to contain the germs of scarlet fever and septic sore throat.

Human beings who may be perfectly well themselves are sometimes the carriers of disease germs. In the pockets of their tunics or in some other cavity of the body there may be harbored these deadly agents. They breed and multiply here and are continually expelled into the air. They may reach milk or other articles of food and thus carry disease to distant homes.

The public has heard about typhoid fever carriers. Everybody knows how dangerous they are unless they co-operate with the health authorities. While I was health commissioner of New York City one of our alert inspectors found a typhoid carrier in the family of an employe living on the "water shed" of the city. While the prospect was remote, there was the danger that the water supply might have become contaminated.

It is a great tribute to their skill that research scientists have revealed this fact and made it possible for health officials to head off possible epidemics. That is what happened in Massachusetts. Very quickly the authorities traced the septic sore throat epidemic to contaminated milk. Before now, no doubt, they have found the particular human being who was the starting point in the epidemic.

Some time we will know more about the different types of germs. At present it is difficult to separate one type from another remarkably similar in growth and appearance under the microscope. We may be confident, however, that the scientists will not stop their studies until this differentiation has been accomplished.

The housewife can do no greater thing for her family than to make sure that the milk she uses comes from a safe source. If there is any doubt about it talk with the local health officer. He will advise you.

Words of the Wise

Time, the great destroyer of other men's happiness, only enlarges the patrimony of literature to its possessors.—Disraeli.

The voice is nothing but beaten air.—Seneca.

Mountains are the beginning and the end of all natural scenery.—Ruskin.

Honor is the reward of virtue.—Cicero.

This body is not a home, but an inn; and that only for a short time.—Seneca.

Other Editors Say

Hi Johnson Renominated.

The Reports from California that Senator Hiram W. Johnston piled up a large majority for the Republican senatorial nomination serve to remind the country of a man who had apparently suffered a permanent eclipse. He may still appeal to the voters of his native state, partly for his efforts to effect the passage of the Boulder dam bill. In the wider political field, however, he has descended from a commanding figure in the senate, one whose word carried weight and who was a stumbling block even for a president, to a member whose name seldom gets greater prominence than that involved in a roll call.

He has been a notable figure in California. Perhaps the mounting years or thwarted ambitions which had centered on occupying the White House have curbed the fiery senator. The return to the normal pursuits of peace and the lack of disturbing elements in splitting the Republican party also have been partly responsible for the sedate bearing of the former boss of the irreconcilables.

Senator Johnston has been a notable character in the development of his own state, however, beginning with the brilliant legal service that brought him so prominently into the public eye. He served as governor two terms and has represented California in the senate since 1916. With a native son as its candidate for president, California is expected to pile up a huge Republican majority in the fall, which will return the senator for another six years—Indianapolis Star.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy

Do You Possess "It"?

You wonder what is the "it" which carries some folks along and causes them to be singled out in a crowd?

You have puzzled your head a lot as to what it might be.

It is easy for you to call it luck or ap all but is it?

If you don't know better than to ask such a question, you haven't "it." Persons who are asking that question are losing the valuable time required to exercise "it."

"It" is the spirit back of one's deeds and actions.

There is an element of genius in "it," for genius is explained to be the ability and habit of taking infinite pains or trouble to accomplish a result.

That means work, an ambition to attain, a confidence in self as a factor in success.

Personality, plus a spirit of carry on, these things imply "it." Just plain hard work doesn't bring "it."

To have the "it" spirit without the ambition to turn it to a good purpose won't do you any good.

To have it in the rough without cultivating yourself is not worth while, for you must do enough to be noticed without thinking of being noticed.

The trouble with this stuff you buy to keep the mosquitoes away is that the pesky things don't seem to understand what it is for.—Mansfield News

Larger Bore Gives New "68" Greater Power Range.

The Marmon Motor Car Co., recently announced new series of two lines of straight eight cars, the Marmon 68 and the Marmon 70, the announcement coming at a time when Marmon shipments for the year have mounted to nearly 120 percent of the entire total for 1927.

Specifications on any of the Marmon line of cars are available here at the McElravy Brothers garage, south Market street. McElravy's handle, in addition to Marmon pleasure cars, the widely known line of White commercial vehicles.

Stress has been laid on the appearance of the new series 68 and 70 by new hood and radiator lines, chromium-plated parts, horizontal louvers and various other improvements that combine in massiveness of front end construction and greater symmetry of line. The straight eight power plants of both cars continue with the same basic principles of design although numerous refinements have been made further increasing their range of flexibility and performance. In the 68, particularly, greater power and efficiency have been achieved by an increase of 1-16 inch in the bore and a new and larger cooling system.

In both lines there are a number of other important improvements, prominent among which are a coincidental lock and new instrument panels designed and lighted so that the numerals on the dials may be easily read from the tonneau.

Initial production of both lines includes four 68 and four 70 body styles. In each series there are a five-passenger sedan, four-passenger Victoria coupe, two-passenger standard coupe and two-passenger speedster. The new series 68 has a base price of $1,495 at the factory and the new series 70, $1,965.

Mechanical refinements include added power in the 68 motor, vibration absorbing clutch plate in the 78, insulated manifold in both lines, extensively designed high turbulence combustion chambers, and refinements in the spring suspension.

The motor in the 78, an overhead valve straight eight, continues with a horse power of 86, but the L-head straight eight motor in the 68 has been stepped up in horse power to 76. The cooling system in the 68 has been increased in efficiency. The capacity of the entire system has been increased to five gallons.

The vibration absorbing clutch plate used on the new 78 is an exclusive Marmon development. By the use of extremely high grade rubber, inserted between the driving hub and plate, even the finer vibrations which tend to chatter the gears in the transmission are eliminated and there is, in addition, a damping action which does away with the possibility of vibrations in the drive line.

Coupled with the incorporation of horizontal hood louvers and chromium-plated headlamps and other exterior parts formerly nickel plated on both lines and a more massive hood, larger radiator and new headlamps and mounting on the new Series 68, are numerous other refinements and embellishments that greatly enhance the appearance of all 68 and 70 body styles.

The use of chromium plate on exterior parts of both lines gives a con-

SATISFACTION IS GUARANTEED TO BUILDERS

Citizens' Lumber Co., Stands Back of Products.

LINE COMPLETE
Supplies All Kinds of Supplies for Building.

Besides all of the usual supplies in the building line, lumber, cement, plaster, etc., and all that goes with them, the Citizens' Lumber company also sells its patrons a reputation of honesty and integrity built up in years of business dealings in the East Liverpool district. Such a reputation makes the products behind which it stands that much more valuable to the purchaser.

The Citizens' Lumber company has its office and yard at Stop 54, on the Youngstown and Ohio railroad. It supplies lumber of all kinds, lime, cement, Ford Cyclone shingles, sheet rock, Upon tile board and building materials of all descriptions, guaranteeing service and satisfaction with every sale.

The company is prepared to deliver any and all supplies to any point in the district.

Considerable added touch of beauty and luster and forms the basis of contrast with color schemes. Included in the parts chromium plated are the radiator shell, filler cap, headlamps and brackets, bumpers, door handles, cowl band, cowl lights and brackets and tail lamp.

Body designs, with the exception of the 78 coupe, closely follow that of the two preceding series and the same general interior hardware and upholstery effect have been retained with refinements tending to further carry out in detail the harmony of hardware design and upholstery pattern.

Cars in both lines will continue to be finished in the Marmon Jewel colors and a variety of combinations will be provided on the various body styles. Wood wheels will be painted and striped in harmony with the color of the body.

The new two-passenger coupe in the Series 78 closely follows the lines of the sedan. Moldings and rear quarter construction combine to give the car a low appearance.

New instrument panels are similar in design on both cars except that on the 78 there is an electric clock.

The coincidental lock, which affects both the ignition and transmission, is of the Blossom type with the key on the instrument panel.

Another refinement in construction that removes much of the discomfort of hot weather driving was accomplished by placing a layer of Celotex insulating material on the dash board. As a result, engine heat cannot penetrate into the body of the car.

Woman Injured When Auto Hits Freight

Mrs. John Rehman, Jr., Riverside Avenue, Badly Bruised; Fog Interferes With Vision at Eighteenth Street Crossing.

WELLSVILLE, O., Sept. 4.—Mrs. John Rehman, Jr., living in Riverside avenue, "over the crossing," was reported seriously bruised and otherwise injured when the automobile on which she was riding struck a Pennsylvania railroad freight train on the Eighteenth street crossing, early Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Rehman, in a Buick roadster, were returning from a motor trip when the accident happened.

At the point where the accident happened, it is necessary to cross a number of tracks. As a result of the fog, the Rehman, it is said, did not see the freight train, which, it is reported, was on the crossing.

The automobile was damaged by the collision. Mrs. Rehman was taken home. An X-Ray examination is planned to determine the extent of her injuries.

REPUBLICANS MAKE NEW BID FOR FARM VOTE

Campaign Textbook Deals Exclusively With Agriculture.

AID PROMISED

Agrarian Has Monopoly of Home Market, Brochure Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Republicans made a new bid for the farm vote today with the publication of the first section of the national committee's campaign textbook. It deals exclusively with agriculture.

"The American farmer under Republican administration has been given practically a monopoly of his home market," said the brochure. "In this home market, which is a protected market, he disposes of 95 per cent of his products at prices higher than are paid elsewhere in the world for like products."

"Republican legislation in behalf of agricultural products has been formulated with a view of its having permanent value and being founded in sound political economy and good sense. The control of every Republican congress has been in the hands of those representing agricultural constituencies. So it has been logical and inevitable that the interests of agriculture have been conserved by the Republican party."

It declared that Herbert Hoover's own farm program would supplement the aid already given the farmers by the Republicans.

JACK DEMPSEY MUM ON PLANS

Former Champion Declines to Commit Himself.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Faced by a battery of interviewers who invaded the great man's privacy because of the understanding that he was to make a statement on his future intentions toward the sport of boxing, Jack Dempsey once again declined to commit himself definitely today on the question open to the future, declaring that he had no concrete plans at this time.

Reminded that he had been quoted as saying that he would issue a statement on the matter today, Dempsey replied that he had decided against going on record at this time either one way or the other.

Beatty, Bloom Named In Suits by Turner

Attorney General Claims They Failed to Comply With Ohio Corrupt Practices Act.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—Claiming that they failed to comply with requirements of the Ohio corrupt practices act, Attorney General Edward C. Turner today filed suits against Commerce Director Earl D. Bloom, Bowling Green, and James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool. Bloom and Beatty were unsuccessful candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at the primary election August 14, last.

Charging in his petitions, filed in the Franklin county common pleas court, that Bloom and Beatty filed "incomplete" statements of expenses with the secretary of state, Turner asked the court to require the defendants to file "a true and complete statement of all moneys, or things of value, contributed, promised or expended, and all liability, directly or indirectly, incurred in connection with the August 14 primary election and to furnish court such further information as the court may require on the subject."

AL SMITH SAYS HE WILL CARRY HOME STATE

Governor Certain he Will Set Pace in New York.

BLUNT STATEMENT Democratic Nominee Scoffs at G. O. P. Claims.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Governor Al Smith is absolutely certain he will carry New York state in the coming presidential election.

Claims by Republican leaders that the "Smith Republicans and independents who have consistently voted for him for governor, will not support him for president, today were scoffed at by the Democratic nominee.

"Republican claims don't mean a thing to me because this is the time of the year when they claim the earth," the governor said when bluntly asked if there was any doubt in his mind about carrying New York.

Boston Terminus for Ocean Mails.

Broke, Attempts Holdup.
Toledo, O., Sept. 4.—Out of work, broke and with no prospects of a job, George J. Y. C. flyer.

TODAY

on a gigantic scale, is "guilty of imperialism," and that Herbert Hoover, as secretary of commerce, had a share in that dreadful enterprise.

FIRST, Secretary Kellogg shows that Hoover had nothing to do with the Firestone enterprise.

Second, that's a pity. For Hoover could have helped, and Firestone planting rubber trees to fight off the British rubber monopoly, first denounced by Herbert Hoover, renders public service.

Americans not afraid to wander a few thousand miles to compete in world affairs are needed.

This country is an empire, a big one, and going to be bigger. It needs the sort of men that Britain calls "imperial minded."

REPRESENTATIVES of Russia's government are in America prepared to spend $40,000,000 for automobile trucks, tractors and other farm machinery.

That should soften our government, which, in silly, provincial fashion, invites all nations except Russia, to sign the peace pact.

OUR diplomacy reflects the angry disappointment of foolish bankers that bought Russian bonds and lost their money. They bought from the czar and feeble Kerensky, and most of the money stayed here to pay American bills.

MODERN Russia says, "We don't pay the czar's debts," just as we should have said 15 years ago, "We don't pay King George's debts."

Greedy, foolish buyers of worthless bonds should not prevent sensible American business men doing business with Russia, or cause Uncle Sam to turn against an old friend. Russian buying here will make up many times over for the foolish bankers' losses on Russian bonds.

As for Russia's kind of government, that is not our business. The British wisely say, "We do business with canibals."

EIGHTY years ago Francis E. Willard, noble worker for temperance, planted two chestnut trees at Evansville, Ind., saying: "As these trees grow and spread their branches, so the cause of temperance will grow and spread throughout the world."

BOTH trees are dying, and the W. C. T. U. has sent for tree surgeons to save them, that they may, in November, post on the trees election returns, "as state after state repudiates the candidate who has declared himself a wet."

If those trees have been "watered" with bootleg whiskey, as cynics suggest, the tree surgeons will work in vain.

The R. E. Jacks ranch, of San Luis Obispo county, one of the largest in California, will replace many cowboys with one airplane.

The boss cowboy will ride through the air, not far up, supervising herds and spying out fence breaks.

Flying becomes more useful every day, and releasing cowboys from dull, not at all romantic, work, is a blessing.

DEATH ROLL

Browne Infant.
Robert Allen, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Browne, Walnut street, died in the Rochester General hospital Sunday night following an operation.

TRAINMEN COUNT STRIKE VOTE

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The strike vote of 70,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors was being counted at the Brotherhood headquarters here today.

The vote, according to information given out by officials, is overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, providing the officials are unable to obtain favorable consideration of their demands for a 7 1/2 per cent wage increase.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen's union organization and E. P. Curtis, of the conductors, declared, however, that negotiations are under way which may avert the strike, and that conferences to that end are scheduled with railroad officials later in the week, after the strike vote has been duly tabulated and recorded.

STEPMOTHER HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

CANTON, O., Sept. 4.—While the bruised and battered body of eight-year-old Dorothy Evanvitch lay in an undertaking parlor today, the little girl's stepmother, Mrs. Caroline Evanvitch, was held in the county jail in connection with her murder.

A neighbor, John Gehring, found the little body Sunday morning in a ditch near the Evanvitch home at Elton. All but the head was submerged in water. Coroner T. C. McQuate announced, after an autopsy, that the child died from a blow on the head delivered from a heavy instrument.

Although cold weather prevailed Saturday night, the body of the little girl was dressed only in a thin sweater and skirt. The body was placed in the ditch after she had been killed, according to the coroner.

A memorial tablet to Joseph Mann, inventor of reapers, is to be placed in a Cultram, England, church.

WOMAN FOUND SLAIN IN DITCH

Dearth to summon the Delaware county grand jury in special session on September 12 to investigate the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Miller, 36, found slain Saturday morning in a ditch northwest of New Castle.

"This will give the police more than a week's leeway to whip their evidence in the case into shape for presentation to the grand jury," Davis said.

Mystery in Death of Contractor.

BANDITS STAGE TWO HOLDUPS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Two armed bandits today held up the Speer pharmacy here and after binding and chloroforming the proprietor, Harry Speer, escaped with $800 in cash.

Half an hour later two men, believed to have been the same bandits, held up the South Side branch of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea company and fled with $200 in cash.

About $500 of the loot obtained at the drug store building was postal receipts of a branch postoffice located in the store. Government officials were notified immediately.

WOMAN KILLED, MOTORIST HELD

Florence Knapp Gets 30-Day Jail Sentence

First Woman Secretary of New York State to Pay Penalty for Stealing Census Money.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp today was sentenced to 30 days in the Albany county jail for stealing census money.

The first woman ever elected to high office in New York state received the sentence with hardly a quiver of the lip.

Supreme Court Justice Stephen Calishan of Brooklyn, sentenced Mrs. Knapp to jail after her counsel, P. C. Dugan, and Attorney General Albert Ottinger, through his special deputy, George Z. Medallie, had appealed for leniency.

Mrs. Knapp was convicted last May of grand larceny but sentence was not passed by the court at that time because of her health.

She was tried twice. The first time the jury disagreed after deliberating eight hours. The second time a verdict was returned after the jury had been out less than four hours.

The specific indictment upon which Mrs. Knapp was tried charged her with the stealing of $2,875 of the $1,200,000 1925 state census fund. It was alleged by the prosecution, however, that she had defrauded the state out of upwards of $25,000 by placing her relatives on the census payroll and then pocketing their checks.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Speculative interest centered around the motor stocks at the beginning of trading on the big board today. New advances were scored by all the well known motor shares, with General Motors, Chrysler and Studebaker leading the procession. Graham Paige jumped back into the limelight with an active movement to above 46. Pierce Arrow and Nash were active and strong.

With stock brokerage houses radiating bullish sentiment and an ever-widening circle of speculative interest sweeping over the country, Wall Street confidently predicted the gradual expansion of stock market business. Buying orders for the "best actors" flowed in over the triple holiday, and numerous large blocks of stock were taken at higher prices in the first period.

Business and industrial reports were again favorable. Steel mills operations in the Youngstown district set up a new peak record above 65 per cent of capacity; motor car orders for Chrysler and other manufacturers increased materially and freight car loadings expanded. There was no change in the money outlook, call loans renewing at 7 1/2 per cent. Cotton sold up about a dollar a bale.

A wave of profit-taking swept over the market in the second hour and wiped up a good portion of the early gains. The motor stock settled down to a slightly lower price level than that of last Saturday's close, and amusement stocks, which had run ahead quite briskly at the start, dropped a good portion of their new gains. The steel stocks were steady and the coppers and equipments firm.

G. O. P. VOTERS TREK TO POLLS IN WISCONSIN

Interest Centers in Primary Fight for Governorship.

FOUR IN RACE

Renomination of Senator La Follette is Predicted.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 4.—Interest in today's Wisconsin primary election centers in the governorship, for which there are four Republican contenders, Fred R. Zimmerman, the incumbent; Congressman Joseph D. Beck, LaFollette progressive; Walter J. Kohler of Kohler, Wis., conservative and millionaire plumbing manufacturer, and John E. Ferris, a Milwaukee attorney.

The Democratic candidate is Mayor Al C. Schedemann of Madison, and the Socialist candidate is Otto R. Houser of Milwaukee.

Although George W. Mead, mayor of Wisconsin Rapids, and conservative candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, has made an extensive statewide campaign in which he has stressed his fairness in dealing with labor in his paper mill, politicians of all parties declare he will be outdistanced by Robert M. LaFollette, the youngest United States senator.

The Democratic candidate for senator is M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, a former congressman. The Socialists did not place a candidate in the field for this office.

Four Republicans, including former Congressman W. H. Stafford are seeking the nomination for congressman in the fifth Milwaukee district, now represented by Victor L. Berger, Socialist, seeking re-election.

Dempsey Expected To Answer "Comeback" Question Today

Promises Definite Statement

Will Talk to Sports Writers at Conference in Hotel.

By Davis J. Walsh.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 4.—Jack Dempsey may keep out of the grease paint long enough to-day to declare himself back in the running for the world's heavyweight championship. This, anyhow, was the intimation taken from his announcement that he would have something "important" to say to local sports writers at his hotel before tonight. Even Dempsey realizes that the only important announcement he can make in regard to himself is one having to do with his immediate intentions in connection with boxing.
Faced with a "yes or no" question about boxing again while he was making up in his dressing room for the premiere of his show last night, Dempsey was saved the embarrassment of answering when his press agent interposed with this significant remark: "Mr. Dempsey is reserving his answer to that question for the sports writers tomorrow."
In view of the fact that the Mr. Dempsey he was discussing had answered that question in the negative at least a hundred times out of a possible ninety-nine or something during the last six months, it is assumed that this worthy fellow is not imbued with the notion that any one wishes to hear him say no again. The man, in other words, always must bite the dog very severely to get his name in an eight column banner line for the late sports extras. The other well known fighter, Mr. Tunney, may be wearied by the daily interview, but if there reaching this stage, the crisis passed when he signed a theatrical contract. Just at the moment Mr. Dempsey would rather have a banner line than both Mr. Tunney and Dave Barry on the floor together with St. Vitus to do the counting.

Midland One Ahead In Series

Land Two Contests to Wellsville's One.

COPPING the Saturday and Monday games of their five-play series, the Service department nine of the Midland Crucible Steel league are one up on the Wellsville club today, the Nicholson combine nosing out a win Sunday in their only Midland appearance to date.
The Midlanders copped Saturday, 7 to 3; Wellsville won Sunday, 3 to 1; and Midland came back yesterday to land a 12-3 verdict.
Exclusive of the first two frames, the Saturday game was a real hurling duel between "Lefty" Crandall, Midland, and "Hap" Easton, Wellsville, with honors even.
Wolf started for Wellsville but was chased in the second. Petroskey, Midland speed ball artist, opened fire for the visitors, but his pet delivery was wild and after issuing four walks in two-thirds of an inning, he retired in favor of Crandall. With the former Chester hurler working smoothly, the Wellsville club was unable to overcome the visitors' hefty margin.
An 18-year-old chap by the name of "Lefty" Strickch was the big gun in the Wellsville club's 3-1 win Sunday. Strickch held the Midlanders to three hits while his mates, besides giving him perfect support, got on Ondrich's star flinger of the steel loop, for seven bingles. One of these was a homer by Strickch, with Maley an ahead of him.
A portion of the Wellsville club failed to show for the game yesterday and Nicholson was left stranded with a makeshift lineup. Jack O'Brosky started on the mound. Then, for a while he alternated with Edwards, who throws left-handed. Finally, he gave way to Wolf, who finished. Claire Coleman topped the hitters for the afternoon with three safeties in four trips to the plate. He scored one run himself and drove in another, besides handling five chances at the hot corner in Reese's place. Sundae, Midland left hander, was up five times, scored four runs, and hit twice, once for three bases and again for two.

Auto Racer Hurt in Crash In Cleveland

Cars Collide in 100-mile Race at Randall Track.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—Two automobile race drivers were in a hospital here today with fractured skulls suffered during the 100-mile championship race at North Randall track yesterday, which was won by Harry Clifford, driving his little "Clifford".
Halford Flagstad, of Alliance, O., was still unconscious in Bedford hospital this morning and his recovery was regarded as uncertain. Kenneth Crispin, of Altoona, Pa., had regained consciousness and hospital attendants believe he will recover.
Cars driven by Jerry Berry and Curly Grandall crashed and overturned shortly after the race begun. A moment later two other machines were thrown together and wrecked as the drivers swerved, attempting to miss the wreckage.
Four other racers, including Flagstad and Crispin, then plowed into the debris. William J. Hildt, of Steubenville, was cut about the head and chest and was taken to the same hospital with the two more seriously injured men. He was dismissed today. Other drivers slowed down, avoiding the wreckage, while the unconscious men were carried away and the track was cleared, and the race continued. Clifford won in a thrilling finish over Fuzzy Whann, driving a Chandler special, whom he had trailed most of the way. Clifford won $1,000; Black-burn $500; Scott Muar, Akron, $300; and "Red" Searight, Indianapolis, $200.

Rookies Star As U.S. Netters Beat Britons

Faith in Future of Yankee Lawn Tennis Renewed.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Renewed faith and confidence in the future of American lawn tennis, which were first inspired by the brilliant victory of George Lott and John Hennessy in the national doubles championship at Boston on Saturday, is further evident today as a result of the decisive triumph of 5 matches to 3 scored by the U. S. forces over England in the final day's play of the international match yesterday.
By the eleventh hour switch that put John Vanry, former Princeton captain, and Wilmer Allison of Fort Worth, Texas, on the American team in place of Lott and Hennessy, it was believed that America's chances went a glimmering. Yet no more brilliant play could have been asked for than that turned in by Vanry who advanced to the greatest heights he has ever known in lawn tennis.
Vanry won both singles matches, defeating the redoubtable H. W. "Bunny" Austin, England's crack youngster, on Saturday, and trouncing Edward Higgs yesterday with the loss of only two games. Then Vanry put on a spectacular turn in the doubles when he paired with Allison to over-whelm the British team composed of Austin and J. C. Gregory, whose defeat of Francis T. Hunter on Saturday was one of the highlights of the British play.

Giants Back in Race After Winning Two From Phillies

Cardinals and Cubs Lose Doubles to Reds and Bucs; Combs' Great Catch Enables Yankees to Gain.

By Bernard Mullady.
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The Giants are back in the race again. They advanced to the runner-up position, four and a half games behind the Cards, by beating the Phillies twice while St. Louis and Chicago were losing both ends of their double-headers to the Reds and the Pirates.
Old Jack Scott, who has helped John McGraw capture two pennants, started and won his first game since his return to the Polo grounds, 4 to 3, and Joe Genewich turned in the finale, 9 to 3, when his team-mates hit Ed Baecht twenty times.
Purdy started in the opener of the two games the Reds took from the league leading Cards. Trailing until the ninth inning of the opener the Cards then whacked out three runs to take the lead, 5 to 4. Purdy drove in the tying run in the last of the ninth and the game remained in a knot until the same Red brought home the winning tally in the eleventh. The late game went to the Reds in the sixth when a flock of hits brought in six runs to make it 8 to 2.
The Pirates won the morning game from the Cubs, 16 to 1, and took the afternoon session, 6 to 3, dropping the Cubs out of their second place seat. Paul Waner used the two games to rap out six hits, one of them a home run, and lift himself to within one percentage point of Roger Horns-bey who was held idle when the Braves-Robins game was rained out.
McGraw's team has an opportunity to gain a whole game on the Cards today when they tackle the Phillies for another double-header while the St. Louis boys are idle.

Adding a whole game to their lead by splitting a Labor day bargain bill with the Red Sox while the Athletics were taking a two-day drubbing from the Indians, the Yanks owe their win to Earl Combs who made the best catch seen this season at the Yankee stadium when he leaped high to spear Ken Williams' drive as it was passing over the wire netting into the right center stands for a home run with the bases loaded. Combs' fine play retired the Sox and saved off the sure scoring of four runs—which would have meant the game—hitting his twenty-third homer of the season and two doubles to help take the game, 8 to 7. A two run rally in the ninth of the night-egg fell short and the Red Sox won, 4 to 3. The Yanks gathered nine hits in the late game to the Sox's six but they couldn't make them count.

Connie Mac's boys were swamped in the early game at Washington, 6 to 1, and the Senators nosed them out in the late session, 5 to 4. Dudley shone in the opener. He struck out eight batters and allowed but four hits. Reeve's bad throw in the ninth on a play that would have retired the A's gave the Macmen their only tally. A snappy double play, Bulege to Harris to Judge, pulled Firpo Marberry, hero of Sunday's Yank shutout, out of a bad hole in the eighth.
Firpo had been sent to the mound with two Athletics runs in and the tying tally on first with none out. A single and a pass loaded the bags and things looked dreary for the Senators until the last play saved the game. Firpo struck out two pinch-hitters in the ninth, French and Ty Cobb, when a hit would have knotted up the score.
The White Sox took from the Tigers, 5 to 2 and 7 to 5, and the Browns two-timed the Indians, 5 to 3 and 16 to 10. The Cubs thus move up from seventh to fifth place and the Tigers and Indians slid down a notch each. The Browns' two victories gave the St. Louis boys a tighter grasp on their third place position.
With an off day today the Yanks can view the Athletic brush with the Senators whom they again meet in a double header tomorrow.

Manager Joe Dickey of Homer Laughlin, champs of the City League, today announced completion of negotiations with the Service department club, kingpins of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel league at Midland, for a three-game inter-city championship series.
The first game will be played Wednesday night at Midland, scheduled for 8-30, local time; the second game will be staged Friday at Newell and arrangements for a third, if necessary, will be announced later.
The admission at both parks will be 35 cents.
The West Virginians are five-time pennant winners in the local circuit and twice champions.
The Service department club won both halves of the Midland league race this season.

Romance in New York

CHAPTER 2.

"I'm an adventurer," said Sally, "I'm a cold, scheming woman and I ought to be in a movie."

For the she waked up with her resolution unchanged. She had plunged down, down into the blues and emerged triumphantly with an idea.

No wonder things had seemed so pointless; day after day of getting up every morning, washing, putting the percolator on, rushing off in the crowd that was stampeding into the offices, sitting down at her desk in the Pantheon Finance Company, lifting the typewriter compartment up, beginning things again...

Almost once a week Rob Saunders came in. He had papers to be signed by the Pantheon's notary. His office was just down the corridor.

He had nice grey eyes. Sally thought of them very hard. Of course he was always trying to impress you with his wickedness, with whispers, little jokes, hints about wild parties. But that was because he was so young. And as for being really wicked—Sally smiled.

Her hands, with slim, quick fingers, strayed over the typewriter keys, touching but not tapping them. Once she had dreamed vaguely of a man who would adore her, a man with a strong mouth and a straight nose, who would see right through her, and love her just the same.

A strange thing that you could probably love a man whose mouth wasn't strong, whose nose wasn't straight, who didn't see right through, and love him for those very things!

Of course it was going to be easy to fall in love with Rob Saunders. All she had to do was just want to, hard enough. Then he would become the most wonderful person in the world. Only she must first be sure that he had fallen in love with her.

She frowned. She thought swiftly. She would go out for lunch early this noon, wait by the elevator. Then he would come out. They would go down to gather. They would—but it was dim what happened after that. One step at a time—enough for any adventure.

But it would be wonderful to have a little house somewhere, to make terribly good things to eat, to keep things bright and shining, to go up and up in the world, until there were servants and limousines and fur-coats and cream for breakfast. It wouldn't be fun to be rich afterwards unless you'd been poor first.

How nice to say good-bye to this desk and to all routine of the Pantheon Finance Company. She was so tired of these elaborate offices with their thick, plum-colored carpets. Tired of the men who came there, men in spats and wearing rings, with the florid airs of popular actors. Tired of the sense of shady schemes going on behind sound-proof doors. There was something feverish and hollow about the Pantheon Finance Company. Elaborate prosperity to meet the eye, but always a difficulty about paying the monthly rent.

The outer door opened. Sally looked up and smiled. Dan Shevlin sauntered in. A man of thirty-eight, with a lean, tired-looking face, carefully dressed, with hard, cold eyes.

But how can you be angry at a man who makes you laugh, even when he asks you to go to dinner with him in such a way that refusal is the only thing.

She couldn't help enjoying his bored, faintly amused look, the dry weariness of his voice.

"Still being a good girl?"

"Trying to," Sally admitted.

"Too bad," I've done my best." He shook his head.

She laughed, looking at the pretended melancholy of his cold eyes. Sadness and Dan Shevlin—they didn't go together. His eyes rested on his tweed suit. He did dress so well. There was an aroma of Russian leather, Havana tobacco, and good-living about him. He was supposed to have money, or know how to raise it at least. When he came in the Pantheon Finance Company was very polite indeed.

Sally pondered after he had left. He was what Rob Saunders so ardently desired to be, really wicked. She thought of Rob's rather round head, the direct look in his grey eyes...

Then it was noon and she stood by the elevator, patient. Down the hall was the door of the office where Rob Saunders worked. It opened, shut, opened, shut. Everybody in the world came out or went in, everybody except Rob Saunders.

"It's so mean of him when I'm so hungry," she sighed. "If he didn't come in five minutes, if he didn't come in another five minutes—'Oh, dear,' said Sally, 'I can't make anybody fall in love with me when I'm hungry, and I certainly can't fall in love with anything except food right now.'"

She ate hurriedly alone, returned wondering. Did Rob Saunders go without lunch, was he ill, did he have a new job? She might never see him again? That would be disgraceful—having to choose two husbands in one week.

All at once she stopped and shivered. To think of marrying someone, living with him—for good, and plan everything as if it were nothing at all. She felt suddenly a little scared.

She began to call herself hard names to restore her courage, her confidence. Then the door opened and in walked Rob Saunders.

"Hello!" He really did try to make his voice sound deeper than it was, like a puppy practicing his first bark. Next he yawned and shook his head. "Didn't get in till four last night," he explained with a grin. Young—that was it, he was just young. "I want to talk to you," Sally said in a whisper, "really and truly." She dropped her eyes. Schemer, adventurer, siren!—not bad fun, if you really were one. Men in droves bending before you, flowers, a fortune—you lifted one hand and called your maid and told her to send them away, because you were so fearfully bored. All men were just alike—they wouldn't let you alone—they insisted on loving you... Well, anyway, Rob Saunders had hated, was staring at her.

"Wait till I get these papers signed," he said. He was back again quite quickly. "What did you make you tell me?"

"Oh—nothing. I don't know. It's none of my business. Anyway I'm not going to."

"Yes, you are."

"No, I'm not—I'm going home anyway." She gave him one of her swift, radiant smiles—the smile of someone who really loves all the world.

Her eyes flew to the window, the opened window where Spring was pouring in a soft, scented air.

"I'm going to walk home," she announced suddenly.

"I'm going to walk home with you," he asserted, "and make you tell me."

"All right. But you mustn't knock me down. I'm not used to it."

Cars and busses shouldering their way through the homeward traffic, but space to breathe and move on the sidewalks. Almost twilight. Rob Saunders talking. Trying to tell her one thing and really telling her another. All the way from Minnesota, unfunny jokes about Prohibition, rakish comments about girls. Once or twice he looked up to stare into the eyes of some other girl passing by, and made a comment to Sally about her.

She felt angry, but of course he didn't know any better. He was just trying to impress her. And after all, he was walking home with her. Perhaps it was only curiosity to find out what she had wanted to tell him, but here he was, anyway. So at last she did tell him.

"I've been thinking about you—lots. The way you live—the things you do. And—I just wish you wouldn't. I mean I wish you wouldn't be bad."

A guilty smile, flattered, immensely pleased, stole across his face. He began to argue. A man had to live. Good Lord, what harm was it to have a little fun. He wasn't old enough to join the Salvation Army. "Look here," he said, "why do you want me to be different?"

"This is my street," said Sally.

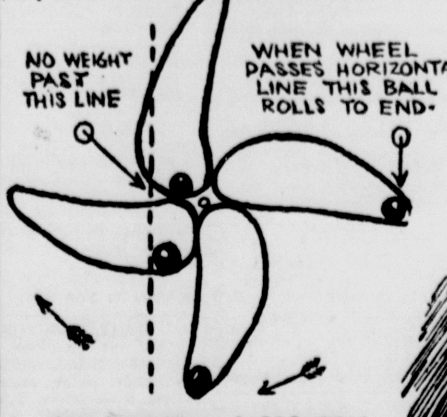

"Wait up—that is—"

"Why don't you eat with me tonight. You don't have to go home. I know a swell little Italian restaurant..."

"WARMING UP" AT CERAMIC

"TEMPEST" IS RUSSIAN STORY

Once more Mike Donlin knew the thrill that follows the empire's hoarse command: "Play ball!"

The picture is "Warming Up," with Richard Dix in the starring role, to be the attraction at The Ceramic theatre all week.

It was in 1905 that Donlin heard in greatest volume the cheers of the crowds in the stands, when the Giants met the Phillies in World Series combat. That series of hard fought games climaxed the career of one of the greatest figures that baseball has ever known—Mike Donlin, outfield star of the McGraw club.

Mike retired from the diamond several years ago and made his way to Hollywood. It was that trip that finally brought him to a new high peak on the baseball diamond, for Donlin, after a series of minor parts, was selected to play in Richard Dix's picture in which Paramount, utilizing its resources for picturizing and sound recording brings all the thrills of the World Series to thousands of theatres all over the world.

Among those whom Mike instructed were several well known in the diamond fraternity: Chet Thomas, late of the Red Sox, Don Rader, ex Vernon infielder, Bob Murray of the Milwaukee club, and five members of the Los Angeles baseball team of the Pacific Coast league.

Office equipment from all producing parts of the world will be displayed at the exhibition to be held at Basel, Switzerland, in September and October.

Rich in romance and action and with John Barrymore giving the finest performance of his illustrious career, "Tempest," a spectacular picture, having as its background imperial and revolutionary Russia, opened at The American theatre yesterday. Judging from the reception accorded Barrymore's new United Artists' film, it will challenge all attendance and popularity records at The American.

"Tempest" is crammed with action, not to mention plenty of humor, from the opening of the story, when the star is a peasant officer plunged into the gay life of pre-war Russia, to the final scenes, when he rescues a princess, his sweetheart, from blood thirsty hordes and escapes with her to a new life of happiness.

The story is original, the direction by Sam Taylor nothing short of brilliant, and the work of the large supporting cast exceptional. Lavish settings and marvelous photography have their share in making Barrymore's vehicle a 100 per cent example of screen entertainment.

Barrymore himself never had a more powerful role than the one in "Tempest." As peasant soldier, dashing officer, lover, prisoner and revolutionary he brings to the fire and sincerity of his unrivaled histrionic ability.

Among the other players are Louis Wolheim, George Fawcett, Ulrich Haupt, Boris de Fes and Lena Malena.

In the Irish Free State 1,667 miles of highways have been improved since 1926.

SOLOIST FEATURE OF ORCHESTRA

One of the big features of George Williams' orchestra, which plays a dance engagement at Junction park on the night of Friday, September 7, is Frenchy Deveraux, soloist.

Frenchy's high tenor voice is well known to every radio listener in this vicinity, and his personality is even more pleasing. The public will enjoy greatly seeing him and hearing him in person.

Frenchy Deveraux is a Canadian by birth. He has made a tremendous hit since joining Williams Music Makers about a year ago. Not only is he popular as a singer, but an instrumentalist, playing violin and trumpet.

Some very new songs as well as several of the old favorites will be sung by Mr. Deveraux when he comes here with Williams orchestra.
